Unitask Software delivers Output Management Solutions for Oracle E-Business Suite An affordable Output Management Solution for the SMB Marketplace

Cincinnati, OH - Jan. 13, 2009 – Expanding the offerings of its robust Output Management portfolio, Unitask Software, the leading provider of Oracle E-Business Suite application solutions, has announced the immediate release of Output Director Professional. The introduction of this Output Management solution brings the benefits of advanced printer and specialty output device support to the Small and Medium Marketplace (SMB). Unitask Output Director Professional provides for an unlimited number of users to print their Oracle Output on any printer regardless of its location in the office or worldwide enterprise.

“Output Director Professional eliminates the need to configure printers and specialty output devices such as bar code devices and check printers within Oracle, meeting a need for higher proficiency and unattended automation that has not previously been available in the market,” said Paul Gervason, Unitask Vice President of Product Management.

Once installed in the Oracle EBS environment, the Unitask Output Director empowers users with complete control over their output, saving time and money while preserving valuable company resources. Output Director frees a company’s Oracle, IT and Network staff from the day-to-day challenges faced in Output and Printer management all while optimizing existing hardware infrastructure and resources.

Unitask’s Output Management portfolio now includes Output Director Professional as well as that of Output Director Enterprise. Output Director Professional and Enterprise were each designed to remove the tedious tasks of Output and Printer management across the Oracle E-Business Suite environment. The Unitask Output Director portfolio supports all current versions of Oracle E-Business Suite from versions 11.5.9 through R-12.

Unitask will be hosting a live web seminar on Tuesday, January 27, 2009 at 2PM EST to demonstrate the many features and benefits of enhanced printing for your Oracle E-Business Suite with Output Director Professional. Register at: www.unitask.com/updseminar.asp
